

Violet mustard from Brive, 200g

A specialty of Brive in the Limousin region of France, this mustard is purple, but it's not made with violets. Its colour comes from the addition of the must of black grapes, which gives this French condiment a unique and truly delicious fruity, sweet and spicy flavour that works wonders at enhancing everything from roast pork to a simple ham sandwich or a slice of terrine or pâté.

Available at most gourmet specialty shops.
